India project cost examples

$175 could pay to train 10 rural community leaders as hygiene educators and motivators, who could reach 200 people.

$250 could pay for a water testing kit so 50 sources can be tested twice a year, serving 5,000 people.

$435 could pay for a household latrine serving 5.

$520 could pay for a 5-tap handwashing block for 100 children.

$870 could provide a school with a rainwater harvesting facility, supplying students with clean water.

$1400 could pay to drill a tube well 45m deep and install a hand pump, serving a community of up to 150 students.

$1750 could pay for a school toilet with separate areas for boys and girls.

$2130 could pay for skills training for 20 hand pump caretakers who can maintain 1,000 hand pumps, serving 100,000 people with clean water supply.

$3800 could pay for a community toilet block which is disability friendly and has hygiene and menstrual hygiene facilities, serving 500 people.