Lent Appeal 2019

Inspire your congregation this Lent

The long weeks of Lent can seem daunting before we begin them; but by being creative about how you approach it, you'll discover that there are dozens of ways to have fun while helping communities around the world to get clean water for the very first time.

Here are a few tips to inspire and encourage your congregation:

Give up something

The smallest things all add up; if you give up just one thing daily (the take-out coffee or the pastry) and save even just $1 you can contribute to a new tap every day.

Pop some small change in your jar every time you do it.

An attitude of gratitude

Together with your family, write down something each day that you are grateful for and put the notes in your jar along with some spare change. At the end of Lent, read the notes together.

Raise your voice for good

Organise a Lenten concert at your church. Lent has been a great source of inspiration for many composers, and if you need more inspiration, you can pledge to learn and perform a traditional song from Nigeria in support of WaterAid.

Log on to wateraid.org/us/lent to download the song and other resources.

Celebrate World Water Day

World Water Day (22 March) focuses attention on the importance of water every year. Celebrate it this spring by engaging your congregation with our new event, March for Water. Pledge to complete a walk in your area during March to help give communities around the world clean water for the very first time.

Check out wateraid.org/us/lent from February onwards for more details.

Please ask your congregation to bring their donations to church the Sunday following Easter Sunday.

We have offline paying-in forms as well as online paying-in options, if you require any assistance, we will be happy to help you. Telephone 212-683-0430.

Every single cent supports clean water access - your support is invaluable and we couldn't do it without you. Thank you!
